Governor's Warning Is About Reds

Those Left-Wingers, He Tells Veterans, Are 'Noisy Minority' in United States

Speaks at Syracuse
Dewey Says Opponents Shattered Into Medley of Confusion

By HENRY LEADER
Sampson, N. Y., Oct. 23 (AP)—Governor Dewey warned veterans today against Communists and other left-wingers, calling them "the contemptible, noisy minority who represent the totalitarian mind in our country."

This group, the governor told World War 2 G.I.s enrolled in the first class of Sampson College, "will be working among you with their plausible slogans and their sugar-coated invitations to suicide, as they work among the rest of our society, but you will not be deceived."

"The challenge of totalitarianism has been met on the battlefields of the world," Dewey said in an address prepared for delivery at the dedication of Sampson College, and "it has been overwhelmingly defeated."

"But the challenge of the totalitarian mind remains among us. It is a challenge that we must meet today."

granted today than we could two years ago, as we fought desperately for our life as a nation," Dewey said. "The third and final state-sponsored emergency college for veterans to be opened this fall. It has an initial enrollment of approximately 2,600. The vast plant formerly was the widely known Sampson Naval Training Station."

Speaks at Syracuse
Dewey came here from Syracuse, where last night he delivered the most blistering attack of his re-election campaign against the United Forces of the Democratic American Labor and Liberal parties, all of whom have nominated a slate headed by U. S. Senator James M. Mead as candidate for governor.

In a voice ringing with sarcasm, the Republican gubernatorial nominee told 2,000 applauding veterans at a rally sponsored by the Onondaga County Republican Committee in Lincoln Auditorium.

"Our adversaries have splintered and shattered into a confused medley of voices, passing for an opposition. But that was to be expected from the strange assortment of gentry who today preside over the United Nations."

Thomas Hits Mead As Liberal, Also Slaps at Lehman

Says Democratic Party Plus Candidates Committed Serious Act Against Vote Freedom

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 23 (AP)—Norman Thomas, Socialist Party leader, accuses the Democratic Party of "throwing off the ballot all minor parties, including the Socialists, which had not endorsed the Democratic state ticket."

In a radio broadcast last night, Thomas stated the Democratic Party "is trying to compel you to choose between the Democratic and Republican candidates for state office by throwing off the ballot all minor parties, including the Socialists, which had not endorsed the Democratic state ticket."

Asserting that the Democratic Party had "conducted an expensive fishing expedition to discover political irregularities," Thomas stated that he had called the matter to the attention of Sen. James M. Mead, the party's gubernatorial candidate, and Herbert H. Lehman, senatorial nominee, but he added:

"Mr. Mead, that great champion of liberalism, never had the courtesy to reply," and "Mr. Lehman, the elder statesman, piously alleged it was a matter for a court to decide."

"I therefore charge," Thomas declared, "not only the Democratic Party but Messrs. Mead and Lehman personally with one of the most serious offenses against the freedom of the ballot in America."

The Socialist Workers' and the Industrial Government parties yesterday appeal a formal notice of intent to appeal a state supreme court ruling prohibiting them from the November 5 ballot and Thomas said the Socialist Party also is appealing the decision.

The court ruled that the Communist Party might appear on the ballot, but not the others, after a charge by Spencer C. Young, Democratic candidate for comptroller, that petition irregularities existed.

Coleman B. Cheney, of Saratoga Springs, Socialist candidate for governor, told a Socialist rally last night "I am still a candidate for governor" and "you have a right to know."

Ten Persons Die When House Burns

Tragedy Occurs Today When Victims Fail to Use Both Exits

East Hampton, Conn., Oct. 23 (AP)—A mother, her eight children and her infant granddaughter perished today in a fire which swept through their Lake Pocotopaug home.

State police identified the dead as: Mrs. Edward Nelson, 46; Mrs. Betty Yeltema, 23; Mrs. Mary Kelvin Hall, 19; Rita Clark, 17; Edith Nelson, 15; Christina Nelson, 14; Chapin Nelson, 12; Charles Nelson, 9; John Nelson, 8; and Jacqueline Yeltema, six weeks old.

The only occupant of the one-family, cinder block house to escape was Edward Clark, 19. He fled through a window and suffered superficial burns and cuts.

Police said Mrs. Yeltema, mother of the dead infant; Mrs. Hall and Rita Clark were all children of Mrs. Nelson by a previous marriage.

Six of the bodies, five adults and the infant, were found clustered around a doorway leading from a bedroom, police said, while the bodies of the younger children were found in two bedrooms.

Edward Nelson, husband of the dead woman, was asleep in a nearby house also owned by the couple, police said, and by the time he reached the scene, the interior of the building collapsed and partially buried the victims in flaming embers.

Police said there were two doors leading to the outside but the trapped victims converged on only one of them in their efforts to escape.

Russians, Poles, Czechs May Find Loan From U.S. Not Easy

Washington, Oct. 23 (AP)—Russia's request for a $1,000,000,000 American loan appears doomed today unless Soviet leaders cease their criticism of United States foreign economic policy.

Similarly, Czechoslovakia and Poland may find it difficult to win approval of their requests for loans totaling $800,000,000 from the American-dominated world bank.

Secretary of State Byrnes himself made clear at his news conference yesterday that the United States will limit its future financial aid to friendly countries who do not brand dollar credits as instruments of economic enslavement.

Speakers Tonight at Auditorium

Crowd Is Expected at Event Which Will Start at 7:45

Elaborate plans have been made by the Ulster County Central Republican Committee for the party rally in the municipal auditorium tonight, featuring Lieutenant Governor Joe R. Hanley of Perry, near Syracuse, and Major General William J. Donovan of Buffalo as speakers. Starting time of the program is 7:45 o'clock.

State Senator Arthur H. Wicks, Republican chairman in Ulster county, estimated today that the spacious auditorium would be filled to capacity for the rally. "The event has been well publicized," he said, "and residents from all sections of the county are expected to make up the big turnout."

Others on the speaking program, besides General Donovan, Lieutenant Governor Hanley and Senator Wicks are Judge Theodore Bookstein of Albany, candidate for justice of the Supreme Court; Congressman Jay McFevre of New Paltz; Assemblyman John F. Wadlin of Highland; District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn and Jay W. Rifenbary, nominee for county treasurer, both of Kingston; also, Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson.

Messrs. Bookstein, Wicks, LeFevre, Wadlin, Bruhn, Hanley and Chipp are seeking election to offices they now hold. They will give an account of their records in public service and stress why the Republican principles they follow in administering their duties should be continued in the interest of their constituents.

Will Speak for Ives
General Donovan will speak in behalf of Irving M. Ives, candidate for U. S. senator. He is managing his campaign and is considered well qualified to speak for Mr. Ives, who had to cancel his appearance here because of an overcrowded itinerary.

Tonight's appearance will not be the first for the well-known soldier politician, who served as a colonel overseas in World War 1 and was in charge of O.S.S. during the recent conflict. General Donovan spoke in this city during his campaign for state governor some years ago.

The general is regarded as a forceful speaker, with the delivery characteristic of an outstanding lawyer, capable of presenting all the issues in favor of Mr. Ives.

Hanley Is Well Known
Lieutenant Governor Hanley has impressed Ulster county audiences on various occasions at political rallies and other functions. His reputation as a speaker, and a man well versed in the interests of the ordinary American concerned with good government, label him as one of the best attractions on the rally program.

Senator Wicks, who has been returned time after time to the state Legislature by the voters of his district comprising Ulster, Delaware, Sullivan and Greene counties, will deliver his usual friendly message, and probably will preside over the rally.

Tonight's event highlights the Republican election campaign in this area. It was arranged to give voters of this area an opportunity to hear the candidates personally and to see the men representing them in public office.

Price Panel Disposes of Five Cases Tuesday

The Price Control Panel disposed of five cases of O.P.A. price ceiling violations and adjourned three others at its regular weekly meeting yesterday at the municipal auditorium.

Truman Is Expected to Explain, Support U.S. Attitude Toward Russia

'Glad Hand' Given
New York Would Like to Keep U.N. at Its Fair Site

New York, Oct. 23 (AP)—With permanent peace as their goal and the split between America and Russia as their foremost worry, the delegates of 51 United Nations gathered today to hear President Truman open their first great assembly on American soil.

By plane, train and ship they have been arriving in the new "world capital" all week. Mr. Truman, with a 2,600-word speech in his brief case, was due in during the afternoon. Secretary of State Byrnes preceded him last night. But aides said Byrnes' only active part in today's round of opening ceremonies probably would be a brief, extemporaneous speech at a United Nations luncheon (1 p. m. E.S.T.).

The luncheon is one of several affairs designed to make this a "city of the world."

United Nations. But in the midst of the color and the confident, welcoming speeches, most delegates privately expressed their concern over the tensions existing between the United States and Russia. Every major issue was being examined in that light—in the American delegation as well as in other official groups here.

Against that background Mr. Truman had to speak and it was generally expected he would take the opportunity to support and emphasize the "patient but firm" foreign policy toward Russia laid down by Byrnes in his report to the nation last Friday on the Paris Peace Conference.

Mr. Truman was due at La Guardia airport from Washington about 3:30 p. m. E.S.T.—only 20 minutes before the scheduled opening of the general assembly session in its shiny new—but perhaps temporary home—on New York's 1939-World's Fair grounds.

Foreign Minister Paul Henri Spaak of Belgium, assembly president, was slated to bring the session to order at 4 p. m., and Spaak, who looks like a younger Winston Churchill, holds a reputation for promptness. After a welcoming speech by Acting Mayor Vincent Impellitteri of New York, Spaak was scheduled to speak briefly and introduce Mr. Truman.

Luncheon Scheduled
Prior to the formal session Impellitteri invited the delegates to city hall for a reception (10 a. m. to 11 a. m.), to be followed by the luncheon. A reception by Mr. Truman at a mid-town hotel (Waldorf-Astoria) this evening climaxes the day's program.

New York officially was holding out the glad hand in the grand manner. It would like, officially, to have the United Nations settle down on the rolling green acres at the Flushing Meadows site, the permanent site problem, however, is one of the big issues ahead.

Headquarters are supposed to be established in Westchester county by a previous decision of the assembly at London. Many people of Westchester do not want homes and businesses displaced, however, and San Francisco has a special delegation here seeking to switch the "world capital" to the west coast.

Best estimates seem to be that for several years the assembly headquarters will continue to be at Flushing. The old New York City building of the World's Fair has been converted into a mammoth auditorium, resplendent with the U.N. colors of blue and gold, and this may be the focal point of the United Nations for some time to come.

Long on Speeches

While plans for the opening day were long on speeches and parties and short on down-to-earth grappling with the problems of organizing world peace, the general assembly will get to work on its real tasks tomorrow, beginning five or six days of what the diplomats here call "general debate." This too will be speech-making—but mostly of a different sort. The speeches are expected to bring a renewal of small nation attacks on the power of the Big Five.

Lewis Tells Krug To Meet Him Nov. 1 Or Face Walkout

Mine Workers' Union Boss Says Contract Will Be Voided Unless Krug Complies

Washington, Oct. 23 (AP)—John L. Lewis stepped up the tempo of his attack for fresh wage concessions from the federally operated soft coal industry today, whipping out a sharp new ultimatum to Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug.

In typically crisp sentences, Lewis told Krug to meet him in Washington on November 1—and no later—or face a walkout by Lewis' 400,000 soft coal miners 20 days earlier than the November 20 deadline set previously.

The 66-year-old boss of the A.F.L.-United Mine Workers Union thus underscored his demand that Krug reopen the whole question of wages, hours and other matters involved in the Lewis-Krug agreement which followed the government's seizure of the industry last May 22.

Meanwhile, labor experts looked for possible repercussions from this pre-winter controversy which could affect Pennsylvania's 75,000 hard coal miners. Almost all the entire hard coal output goes into heating homes and buildings.

Lewis is successful in his demand for renewing wage negotiations for soft coal miners. Similar demands may be expected of the hard-coal producers—and Lewis can open his hard coal contract on 10 days' notice.

Agreement Is Signed
The hard-coal producers signed an agreement with Lewis last week almost paralleling the Krug-Lewis contract for the soft coal miners.

Far from being soothed by two federal offers to talk things over, Lewis said he and his men would meet Krug and by Navy Capt. N. H. Collinson, federal coal administrator—Lewis yesterday threatened the terms of his challenge to the government on the grounds of alleged "breach of contract."

Krug, off on an extended tour through the southwest, said Lewis could meet him at Tule Lake, Calif., if the U.M.W. chief insisted on a conference November 1. Otherwise, Krug said his emissaries, arranged weeks ago, would meet him on returning to Washington until after November 2. To that proposal, Lewis said:

"The Lewis-Krug-Lewis agreement expressly provided that both parties to the agreement are to meet within a 10-day period upon formal request."

Community Chest Plan Discussed

Committee Will Make Further Survey of Funds Proposal

The possibility of a Community Chest for Kingston was the principal topic of discussion at a meeting of the Retail Merchants Committee of the Chamber of Commerce last night at the Y.M.C.A., but definite action on the proposal was deferred pending further investigation by a Chamber committee headed by Harry Rigby, Jr.

Warren Smith gave a comprehensive report on organization and in the discussion that followed a difference of opinion developed. Chairman Rigby emphasized that the Chamber of Commerce was acting only in an advisory capacity and was presenting the facts to the merchants, organizations and community agencies that would be directly affected by such a program.

The chairman pointed out that the Chamber of Commerce committee investigating the feasibility of a community chest had been named last June. Serving on the committee in addition to Mr. Rigby are Byron Chatham, Henry Singer and Herman Rafalowsky.

Mr. Chatham introduced Warren Smith as spokesman for the group. Mr. Smith pointed out that organizations normally included in community chests are those engaged in religious, educational and charitable work.

The investigation by the committee, Mr. Smith reported, showed that 14 organizations participate in the community chest fund in Poughkeepsie. In Newburgh all but one organization eligible for such funds is included in the chest.

Asserting that only about two of three thousand persons hear the brunt of annual solicitations in Kingston, Mr. Smith quoted statistics showing that normally about 27 percent of a community's population contributes to a chest fund. He said that the fees paid to a community chest organizer and director would be about equal the amount paid by different organizations.

Hjalmar Schacht, the acquitted former Reichsbank president, now is in jail near Stuttgart, awaiting action under denazification procedure, and Hans Fritzsche, the third man freed by the international military tribunal three weeks ago, is living in a small Nuernberg apartment. Von Papen left with his son in a military car for an apartment across town after it had been forbidden to live elsewhere than in Bavaria. Final rejection of his request for entry into the British zone was announced today. He had been turned down previously by the French zone. Meanwhile Col. B. C. Andrews, Nuernberg prison commandant, said the mystery of Herman Goering's suicide a week ago might be cleared up during the day in a public announcement by the U. S. Army investigating board.

Community Chest Plan Discussed

(Continued from Page One) In their individual drives for funds. Officers of each organization selected to share in the funds generally were asked to present a budget of their needs, Mr. Smith said, and these figures are pared down 20 percent as experience showed that the full amount during a campaign for funds was never collected. If the funds received were not sufficient to meet the amount allotted to each organization, then the total was distributed pro rata to the different agencies. Less Revenue Reported Mr. Smith stated that general opposition to a community chest comes from organizations that claim they received less money through that system than when conducting their own drives. Mayor Watson J. Hoffman of the Salvation Army spoke in favor of the community chest. He said that in cities where he had been previously stationed the community chest was the real solution to the problem of funds for charitable agencies. In summarizing the discussion, chairman Rigby said that, in some plan must be evolved where, by worthy organizations receive needed funds and at the same time the frequent solicitations of merchants be eliminated. Such a plan would save considerable time and effort spent in the individual drives, Mr. Rigby said. The special Chamber of Commerce committee was then instructed to contact officers of the various organizations of the city to learn how many would participate in a community chest. They will report their findings at a later date. Other matters discussed by the Retail Committee pertained to the Christmas shopping period store hours and decorations for streets and stores. Store hours for the holiday season were discussed at length and it was decided to hold the stores open until 8 p. m. from Wednesday, December 18 to Monday, December 23, and to close at 5 p. m. on Tuesday, Christmas Eve. The stores will retain the option of opening at their normal hour. The Chamber of Commerce will conduct a postcard poll of all stores in the Christmas shopping district to determine how many will accept the proposed schedule. Cooperative action for elaborate street and store decoration for the Christmas period was not considered due to the lack of materials. The matter was left up to the individual store proprietors and managers.

Ontario Court Frees Adams on Charges

Adams, a former official of several government financial branches, remained under $5,000 bail, however, pending determination by the crown of disposition of two other charges against him—communicating information to Russia and retaining government documents, both breaches of the Official Secrets Act. He was the second to win acquittal in the case, based on a Royal Commission investigation of a Moscow-directed spy ring in Canada. Five persons have been convicted, or have pleaded guilty, in Canada and a sixth was found guilty in England.

Krug and Collison both contend that the Krug-Lewis agreement of May 29 was for the duration of government operation and could not be reopened without mutual consent. Gosso's Death Is Confirmed by War Department Today

The War Department this morning officially confirmed the death of Pvt. Earl F. Gosso, of 177 Wall street, Kingston, in a telegram to his mother, Mrs. Anna Gosso. An Associated Press dispatch early this week reported that Pvt. Gosso had been killed in a jeep accident in the American zone of occupation west of Berlin, Germany, but the mother did not receive official notification until today. The Home Service Bureau of the American Red Cross said Pvt. Gosso's body would be shipped to Kingston in the near future. Pvt. Gosso, who was attached to the 15th Constabulary Squadron in Berlin, was riding in a jeep with T. J. Harold Spurgin of Connersville, Indiana, when the jeep was either hit by an oncoming jeep or crashed into a jeep that had momentarily stopped on the main highway. The War Department's version of the accident lacked details. Pvt. Gosso had been in service since July 2, 1945. He attended Kingston High School for two years before entering the Army. Surviving Pvt. Gosso are his mother, Mrs. Anna Gosso, of 177 Wall street; and two sisters, Mrs. Martha Rockwell and Mrs. Elizabeth Ruger, both of Kingston.

New Airline Strike Looms For Early Next Year

Washington, Oct. 23 (AP)—The threat of a possible new airline strike early next year cast a fresh shadow over the aviation industry today as the walkout of 1,400 T.W.A. pilots moved into its third day. The latest wage dispute, involving pilots of two-engine American Airlines, Inc., planes, landed before the National Mediation Board after the company and the A.F.L. Air Line Pilots Association failed to reach an agreement. An A. A. spokesman said the pilots are demanding a 30 per cent increase in their present average earnings of $9,477 a year. He said this would make pilot pay for flying present DC-3 equipment virtually the same as for four engine DC-4's and that the amount would rise to $13,845 a year when the faster two engine CV-40's are put into service next year. The strike against Trans World Airlines, which involves pay demands for four engine pilots, went through mediation machinery months ago. Activity in the T.W.A. strike was at a near standstill, meaning as government agencies pondered possible steps to bring the two sides together. That dispute also was back in the hands of the Mediation Board, but a board official said he was uncertain of the next step. The White House said yesterday it was taking no action in the walkout which has grounded the 115 planes used on the company's 28,000 miles of domestic and international routes.

Reis Gets 219-Pound Bear, Finkle, Misner Deer Each

Passersby were attracted to the Reis Brothers service station on Washington avenue this morning by two deer and a 219-pound bear, the quarry of a hunting party in the Adirondacks. Fred Reis, who took a vacation from his gas and oil business for his fall hunting stint, shot the bear after 20 minutes in the forest on his first day of the Adirondacks trip. The deer were shot by Harold Finkle and Harold Misner. One of the four-point bucks was tagged on the first day of the hunt and the other was brought down on Tuesday, just before the party left the woods for home.

Ticket Mixup
Auburn, Neb., Oct. 23 (P) — The railroad conductor looked, then looked again, at the tickets handed him by a military police and his prisoner.

The tickets routed the M.P. and the prisoner another. Both would arrive at the same destination, but enroute their paths would diverge.

The youth whirled about, and asked: "What change? You got change coming?"

Conway took him to Central Station where he was held without charge.

During the night thermometers in some sections of the city registered as low as 28 degrees, while the official city thermometer recorded a low of 34 degrees, as compared with 33 degrees Monday night.

Temperatures in the city yesterday ranged from a low of 33 to a high of 63 degrees.

Governor Warns About Communists

over the liquidation of a once great political movement.

"After all," Dewey said, "they are running on three different platforms with the support of five different parties on three different lines of the voting machine. When they get confused, they are just doing what comes naturally."

To one audience, the opposition pictures the state government as a "misery" to another audience it says "the cold and clammy hand of the state" is "taking the people's money" to spend it in calculating, sinister ways, and to still another audience it describes "state administration as a 'glad hand spender'."

"Can you imagine," the governor asked, "what it looks like when their ringmasters get together for a pow-wow in a smoke-filled room?"

Whip From Easy Chairs

In the easy chairs, he said, "sit the Communists who crack the whip over the A.L.P. Apologetically, back over there in the corner, sit the meek remnants of the so-called Liberal party. Here are the sharp-eyed bosses of the Political Action Committee. And here, of all places, are the embarrassed, uneasy successors of those who once made the Democratic party great."

"It is no wonder," he observed, "that they seem unable to agree on anything except on one point of strategy—to divert attention as far as possible from the facts of the government of New York."

The governor said the opposition opened its campaign with a "Stop Dewey" rally in New York city "by bringing up Henry Wallace to torpedo our national foreign policy. But they were overwhelmed by the wrath of an entire nation which knows that above all else we must have unity when America stands before the world."

"When that blew up in their faces," Dewey asserted, the opposition "shouted that your state government at Albany was strictly responsible for the empty stockyards at Omaha and Chicago and the empty butcher stores of America."

Material Lack Responsible

Discussing the housing shortage, Dewey said that regardless of the claims of his opponents, "houses are not built from dollar bills or from appropriation bills. Shortage of materials is responsible," he declared.

Despite the shortages, the governor said, "in 38 communities of the state we are building emergency housing for more than 30,000 people—veterans, their wives and children."

"All the cries of our opposition and their sign-carrying satellites about appropriation bills just mean that they are trying to exploit their own ignorance of the facts," Dewey maintained.

Replying to Senator Mead's criticism of the state's vast projected highway program, Dewey remarked:

"These people said the great highway system planned for this state was a luxury which ought to be postponed. They didn't know that motor-borne commerce is the life of the industry of our state and of the jobs of our people."

Whom to Believe

"These people said our great superhighway, the Thruway, was preventing the building of veterans' homes, and in the next breath they said the Thruway couldn't possibly be built for years. I don't know which you were supposed to believe. I guess you were not supposed to believe either one. They didn't know that in grading a road you don't use plumbers and carpenters or wallboard or flooring or bathtubs, or encounter any of the shortages that we meet when we try to put up a home."

"More ignorance," Dewey insisted, "cannot excuse the mixture of cynical contradictions that we have been hearing in this campaign."

At Elmira tomorrow Dewey will dedicate a state emergency housing project and inspect a permanent housing development. In the evening he will deliver a major address at Binghamton.

Normal Trading Is Seen

New York, Oct. 23 (AP)—Dr. Claudius T. Murchison, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, today said the cotton goods industry is entering a stage of normal competition and normal consumer behavior. "From now on production will be determined by the choices of the consumer," Murchison told the 20th annual meeting of the institute. "Prices will revert to their honorable function of determining what should be produced and how much. The condition of short supply will give way to a condition of dependable supply, and allocations of distribution will give way to aggressive salesmanship and a free market for all," he said.

Looks Like Control Izvestia Declares Will Fade Rapidly U. S. Government

Indications Are Sugar and Rice Will Remain

Washington, Oct. 23 (AP)—Removal of most price ceilings still on foods was indicated today by government agencies.

It was learned that O.P.A. and agriculture officials are working on a comprehensive food decontrol list expected to be made public soon.

Trade rumors reported that only sugar and rice will be retained under control programs but O.P.A. officials refused to confirm or deny this, asserting a definite announcement will be made shortly.

Officials at both agencies have forecast decontrol of flour, bread and other baked goods.

The action was expected to complete President Truman's directive to speed up all decontrols. Mr. Truman removed ceilings from meats and livestock last week.

O.P.A. and agriculture followed this up by ending price ceilings on all vegetable fats and oils and coffee. At the same time the Price Decontrol Board announced it would not return controls on milk, cheese, butter and other dairy products.

Meat on the Hoof Hits Low Point in Shipments Receive

Chicago, Oct. 23 (AP)—With embargoes against further receipts of livestock at several of the nation's marketing centers, receipts of cattle today were down to their lowest point in a week and hogs were lower for the second day in succession. Sheep receipts were slightly higher than yesterday.

Early trading was slow until the rolling stock situation could be learned for the day.

At the 12 principal markets an estimated 47,800 hogs rolled in by truck and railroad compared with 70,800 yesterday, 99,295 a week ago, and 32,371 a year ago. Cattle numbered about 51,200 on sale today, 61,100 yesterday, 70,957 a week ago, and 62,337 a year ago. Sheep were up to 54,200 today, 49,300 yesterday, 63,675 last Wednesday, and 48,756 a year ago.

Denver, Colo., brought in most cattle for sale, 9,100, and sheep, 15,500, while Chicago led the hog markets with 8,000.

Nazi Scheme Told Of 1940 Campaign influential; that he was backed by the trade unions; and that he was very important in a positive attitude towards Germany. Davis told me that by the use of his influence on Lewis, he could influence the elections in such a manner so that the reelection of Roosevelt, which, in his opinion, would mean war, would be prevented."

The special assistant to the U. S. attorney general said Goering told him "I would have spent $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 to influence the 1940 election."

Quoting a memorandum from then Assistant Secretary of State Adolf A. Berle, Jr., dated September 15, 1939, Davis conferred with Roosevelt after the meeting had been arranged by Lewis and informed the President that he had been told by Goering that Goering wanted to make peace.

Rogge said Berle reported the President's statement that no suggestion would be considered on peace negotiations unless it was received through recognized channels.

Guard of 40 Men To Watch Over Hess

Berlin, Oct. 23 (AP)—An international guard of 40 men, 10 from each of the occupying powers, will watch over Rudolf Hess and the six other Nazi war criminals in Spandau prison, Berlin, if present plans being discussed by the Allied Kommandatura of Berlin are approved.

This would approximate six guards for each prisoner who escaped the death penalty. At present there is one guard for each 16 of the 600 convicts confined in Spandau prison.

The sprawling, red brick prison will not be ready to receive Hess and others for approximately a month.

The seven will not be behind bars but in small stone cells with a solid door broken only by a peep-hole for the guards to keep an eye on the prisoners.

STAMPS in the NEWS

49 Features

Inscribed "Never Forget," a new set of Austrian stamps vividly depicts the horrors and fall of Fascism under Nazi Germany. According to word from London, the stamps were printed some time ago but Allied authorities only recently sanctioned their release.

Values, colors and descriptions are: 1 plus 1 groschen deep red, and upraised hand with a broken sword; 2 plus 2 groschen, a map of Austria in the background; 3 plus 3 groschen, a map of Austria in the background; 4 plus 4 groschen, a map of Austria in the background; 5 plus 5 groschen, a map of Austria in the background; 6 plus 6 groschen, a map of Austria in the background; 7 plus 7 groschen, a map of Austria in the background; 8 plus 8 groschen, a map of Austria in the background; 9 plus 9 groschen, a map of Austria in the background; 10 plus 10 groschen, a map of Austria in the background.

Two semi-postals from Finland are among recent arrivals in this country. Both bear the familiar double-barred cross of anti-tuberculosis organizations and the surtax has been earmarked for Finland's National Anti-Tuberculosis League to fight the disease in children. A five plus one markka green shows a nurse with two children. An eight plus two markka brown pictures a physician examining a child. Finland has issued numerous Red Cross semi-postals in the past, but these are the first stamps devoted to tuberculosis prevention.

The general increase in prices of United States stamps during the past year is reflected in listings of Volume One of the 1947 Standard Postage Stamp Catalogue, just off the press. Even so, many of the prices are still under current market quotations, due in part to the fact that the catalogue prices were set on the basis of market conditions last April, May and June.

Although some of the regular issues are exceptions to the general increase, the following 1946 and 1947 catalogue price comparisons give a fair picture of price rises in the commemorative and airmail field (first price given is 1946 and the second the 1947 listing; prices in all cases are for mint copies).

White Plains souvenir sheet $15 and $17.50; 1934 A.P.S. souvenir sheet (Scott's 750) $1 and $2; 1936 International Philatelic Exhibition souvenir sheet (Scott's 778) 24 and 50 cents; 1940 Famous American series $7.23 and $10.64; 1930 Graf Zeppelin airmails $80 and $122.50; and 1933 Chicago airmail $4 and $7.

Recent spectacular increases in stamps picturing the late President Roosevelt make some of the new catalogue listings already obsolete.

Resort Accommodations Are Being Reviewed

New York, Oct. 23 (AP)—Milton Krochmal, district O.P.A. rent executive, said yesterday that plans for making available to home-seeking families 10,000 apartments and bungalows in resort areas were being placed with local rent authorities.

Such properties now are unoccupied, Krochmal said, adding that their owners have feared that admitting tenants during the off-season months, at off-season rentals, would jeopardize their chances of renting them next summer at high seasonal rates.

As summer resort facilities they are exempt from O.P.A. ceilings, but for temporary occupancy the rents to be charged would be subject to O.P.A. approval.

Krochmal said plans for assuring landlords their properties would be returned to them next summer involved issuance of "mutual consent" eviction certificates.

He said a person renting one of the properties for the fall and winter would be asked to consent to issuance of an O.P.A. certificate, effective next spring.

With this certificate, Krochmal said, the landlord would be able to evict the tenant, either summarily or by speedy municipal court action.

BANKING Is a Very Personal Business

A man's hopes and ambitions, his plans for the future or the financial results of his past often depend on his dealings and deposits at his bank. This imposes an obligation on us . . .

- ... not merely to act as but to BE friends in our over-the-counter dealings;
- ... to keep the confidences revealed to us;
- ... to consider our customers' personal plans from a personal point of view;
- ... and, above all, to maintain a deep sense of responsibility in handling other people's money, money that means so much to so many.

$1,274 Donated In Kingston to U.S.O. Campaign

Contributions, large and small, are coming into the U. S. O. office at the Y.M.C.A., but the list of supporters show that a great many have failed to send in their share. The local committee urges that contributions be made now so that the drive can be completed in October. Up to date $1,274.44 has been received in the Kingston district. Returns from the outlying districts have not been reported.

Checks may be made out to Frank Finley, treasurer, and mailed to him at the Kingston Trust Company or to the U. S. O. headquarters at the Y.M.C.A., Kingston.

In a statement today in behalf of the U. S. O., Campaign Chairman Burt Tandy says that the Kingston Y.M.C.A. sees daily young men from Ulster county leaving for the armed forces. From the spirit of these men going now to service we know they need the activity, various interest and entertainment more than the older men needed it during the war.

The hospital work unquestionably must be continued until the end of 1947. Giving to the U. S. O. is the greatest way to show appreciation for the 200,000 men still in the hospitals. For them the war is not yet over.

The U. S. O. drive in Ulster county is endorsed by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, Forty and Eight Society and Marine Corps League.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By ED CREAGH (For Hal Boyle)

London, Oct. 23 (AP)—A dapper, thin-lipped Oxford graduate who looks more like a prosperous broker than a policeman is directing the international research for the stolen jewels of the Duchess of Windsor.

But Ronald Martin Howe, Britain's "top cop," is far from being the well-meaning amateur that a careless crook might take him for. He has investigated personally every kind of case from dockside slayings to Irish Republican army bombings.

"He is one of the best-informed police experts in the country and, incidentally, about the best-dressed man at Scotland Yard," said a close associate. Howe himself, publicity-shy like most British law enforcement officers, does not give interviews.

Forty-eight years old and unmarried, Howe has been head of the Yard's criminal investigation department—at 1,750 pounds ($7,000) a year—since early last year, taking the job as Britain's greatest crime wave of the century was beginning.

Groomed for the job by his predecessor, Sir Norman Kendall, Howe knows at first hand the stamping grounds of international criminals—London's gaudy Mayfair, the dens of Paris, the less reputable parts of New York's East Fifties.

He has chased in a squad car, and captured, smash-and-grab bandits preying on London suburbs.

As deputy assistant commissioner he cleared his desk of papers and went looking for a Christmas eve murderer in 1938. He got his man.

Two years earlier he spent six weeks as a "pupil" of the New York police department. What impressed him most was the extensive use the Americans made of radio in catching crooks. Scotland Yard now has an intricate radio network of its own.

Howe holds an honors degree in Greek literature from Oxford and was a lawyer before he went into police work. His college career was interrupted by the first World War. He joined the army as soon as he was old enough and won the Military Cross in France.

Five feet ten, with dark, graying hair, Howe likes to relax by working in the garden behind the suburban home of his mother, with whom he lives, but the postwar wave of murders and robberies has given him little time for gardening.

He directed last February's comb-out of central London in which thousands of persons were stopped by squads of policemen and detectives and required to give an account of themselves. Sixty arrests were made in three days and fur and jewel thefts dropped sharply.

Scotland Yard men, some of them undoubtedly in disguises that would have started Edgar Wallace now circulating nightly in the after-hours "bottle clubs" of Mayfair, the cafes of foreign soho and the hangouts of the blitzed but thriving East End, center of the black market.

It was easy enough to steal the Duchess' jewels, the police say, but disposing of them will be something else again. Howe makes no promises but it will surprise the British public if he doesn't have a squad car waiting when the thieves attempt to sell them.

What U. S. Owned

It is estimated that before World War 2, the United States owned one-third of the world's rail mileage, one-third of its highways, and seven out of every ten motor vehicles.

NEW DEAL EXPERIMENTS COSTLY

When Roosevelt was first campaigning for the presidency in 1932 he said repeatedly, "We must experiment in government in the same way as in science."

That sounded sensible at the time. We had no way of forecasting that government-by-experiment would be substituted for government-by-principle. The experiments often conflicting with well established moral and economic laws.

For instance, the New Deal's policy of forcing out farmers and forcing them to plant and raising them by planting in cotton. With prices of manufactured products too high for the farmer, consumers could not buy the New Deal's policy of forcing out farmers and forcing them to plant and raising them by planting in cotton.

When management was accused of abusing labor the New Deal acted to correct any such abuse. It gave coercive power to a third party, namely union bosses, by passing the Wagner Act and by setting up labor boards largely favorable to the big unions and wielding a degree of power not compatible with the principle of a free people.

Public Learned Lesson

When a supreme court, which since its beginning had held the balance between the executive and legislative branches, refused to be used for political ends, the New Deal changed the court. When Marxist philosophers taking advantage of wartime scarcity raised the cry of inflation, the New Deal clamped tight controls on wages and commodity prices, clinging to these controls long after the war ended and a large shoving them only under extreme pressure from a public unwilling to suffer the evil results any longer.

When a pressure group with a million votes complained of an unfair price ceiling the New Deal gave them money out of the public treasury, a donation known by the comparatively innocent name "subsidy."

When minorities, who had enjoyed higher living standards, more equality and liberty in this country than in any other in history and whose relations with non-minorities were improving year by year under the so-called rational practices of a free people raised the cry of discrimination on the New Deal set up a vicious race-discriminatory and unfair committee with power to force employers to shape their hiring practices to suit the government and the minorities in effect an attempt to force gentle relations by passing a law.

Force and coercion became the basis on which much of the New Deal government operated. Men under the heel of government. More and more this government ignored the right of business to buy and sell and hire and fire for efficiency, process, necessity, to our competitive system and without which we could not expect to produce the goods to maintain our high living standards.

Results Pitiful

After 14 years of this government-by-force an acting secretary of state, Dean Acheson, in June was unashamed to demand that the administration seize the farmer's wheat for export to Communist Yugoslavia, and President Truman himself was unashamed last week that he had seriously considered seizure of the rancher's cattle. Neither official indicated that he had ever considered the moral or constitutional principles involved in such seizure of private property. A Sunday-afternoon radio commentator pointed out that since the War Powers Act is still in effect the President had the power to accomplish such seizure.

Yes, we have experimented in government since 1932. And we see the results in needless menus, car-less garages, soapless wash days, homeless families, a public debt so staggering we hardly dare look into the future—and a budget still unbalanced.

This is the history of experimentation in a Fascist-Marxist economy. Never under a free economy did we fail to get over depressions and reach new heights of production and consumption, and pay off or reduce our public debts. Let us hope America has learned a lesson from these experiments and let us hope future generations are willing to read our laboratory notes and be guided by our findings.

Ives Renews Challenge His Opponent Declare Policy

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 23 (AP)—Irving M. Ives, G.O.P. nominee for U. S. Senator, has renewed a challenge to former Governor Herbert H. Lehman, his Democratic opponent, to "declare himself" for the foreign policy stand of Henry A. Wallace or that of the State Department.

Speaking at a statewide broadcast last night, the retiring assembly majority leader also repeated proposals for a non-partisan congressional approach to the problems of veterans and of management and labor.

Ives said that he had "waited in vain" for Lehman to declare himself on foreign policy, adding, "It is the duty of every candidate for national public office to tell the voters whether he stands with the views of Henry Wallace and his splinter party supporters or with the position of our official bipartisan representatives. On this my opponent has not chosen to speak clearly."

"Throughout the campaign I have been declaring my own position on fundamental issues, one by one. I have announced where I stand on foreign policy. I support the bipartisan foreign policy of the United States. I shall support it in the Senate."

Out of Politics

Pointing out that he had been chairman for eight years of a joint New York legislative committee on industrial and labor relations, Ives said that New York state "has taken the relationship between labor and management out of politics."

He proposed a joint non-partisan congressional committee to help bring "lasting peace between labor and management."

The dean of the state school of Industrial and Labor Relations at Cornell University then asserted that the Truman administration had "stumbled from expedient to expedient as each new crisis burst over the country."

Ives recalled that after the first world war he had felt "resentment" when either one party or the other claimed to be "my special benefactor."

"I thought then—and I believe now—that veterans should not be forced to depend on partisan favor to secure just treatment by a grateful nation," he declared.

He said he favored a "free economy with natural economic laws providing the principal controls."

Reward Is Offered

London, Oct. 23 (AP)—Agents for the Duke of Windsor today advertised a reward of $8,000 for the return of jewels stolen from the duchess last week. Scotland Yard, meanwhile, was faced with three new major thefts. The loss of jewelry valued at $24,000 was reported by the manager of a gold-dealing firm in the Piccadilly area, who said thieves had rifled his showcases after cutting burglar alarm wires. Jewelry valued at $3,000 was reported taken from the hotel room of Mrs. Esme Laughton, a relative of actor Charles Laughton, and a trunk containing a mink coat and other articles valued at $8,000 was stolen from the apartment of Mrs. M. Sharp, Canadian writer.

States Maritimers
May Tie Up Ships
All Over the World

New York, Oct. 23 (AP)—A spokesman for striking members of the Masters, Mates and Pilots (A.F.L.) said today as he entered a negotiating conference with east and west coast ship operators that "things look very bad" for a settlement of the 23-day-old strike of deck officers.

The spokesman, Capt. Albert E. Oliver, chairman of the union's negotiating committee, said the bone of contention was union membership for masters, and told reporters, "We'll tie up every ship in the world" unless operators capitulated to union demands. He said if negotiations broke down union representatives would return to their locals and "take a vote on an all-out strike all over the country. I warned them (the operators) that it would affect the whole world, but they still refuse to give up a preferential employment and maintenance of membership clause for the masters."

The operators have offered preferential hiring of mates and pilots but have balked at the inclusion of captains. The M.M.P. also seeks a 30 per cent wage increase.

Capt. Oliver said the negotiating committee included representatives of locals in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Norfolk, Baltimore, Savannah, Charleston, Jacksonville, Mobile, New Orleans and Galveston.

C.I.O. Marine Engineers, meanwhile, continue voting today and tonight on ratification of an agreement reached by their leaders and the ship operators yesterday for ending the eastern and Gulf phase of their strike.

While officials of the union, the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association, said they expected "almost unanimous" approval of the pact by the union's 18,000 members, the Houston, Tex., local late yesterday voted to strike "all waterborne commerce" by 12:01 a. m. tomorrow.

The Houston local rejected by a 230 to 1 vote the agreement reached here.

William G. Killogg, the local's strike chairman, described the strike extension as a "protest" against the M.E.B.A.'s action in "submitting such a contract for ratification." He said he would ask all other Gulf ports to take similar action.

The large New York unit, with 5,400 members, votes tonight.

Samuel Hogan, president of the engineers, will announce results of the ratification vote in Washington tomorrow.

Both unions are involved in the nationwide maritime walkout which has throttled virtually all of the nation's shipping.

The M.E.B.A. continued its picket lines pending outcome of the ratification vote and Lawrence Kammet, the union's publicity representative, said the engineers would not return to their ships until the deck officers also had settled their dispute.

Both unions expect to negotiate with West Coast operators after settlement in the East and Gulf areas.

Photographs Are Given Out to Be Printed in Berlin

Berlin, Oct. 23 (AP)—Official photographs of the bodies of the 11 major Nazi war criminals who died at Nuremberg were distributed by the Allied Control Authority's secretariat here today to representatives of the American, Russian and French press for publication at 12 noon (6 a. m. Eastern Standard Time) Thursday.

By order of the British member of the Allied Control Council, Air Marshal Sir Sholto Douglas, no pictures were given to British press representatives. The British government has opposed publication of the pictures.

The Control Council, in a unanimous action, forbade publication of the pictures in the German press and the sale of the photographs to German papers by any Allied picture agency doing business here. This action was taken despite the fact the pictures will be published in American publications which circulate in Germany.

An American spokesman said the 24-hour embargo on use of the pictures which were distributed here at noon, was fixed at the request of the Russians. They asked the delay because they had no means for radio transmission to Moscow and must rely on air transport.

The French also favored the embargo.

The bodies are pictured lying atop their bare black coffins, with the printed name across the chest of each. The suicide Hermann Goering lies dressed in his pajamas. Nooses are still about the necks of six of the ten hanged men. The pictures of Keitel and Frick are grisly, with blood spattered over the men's faces and pillows.

Babe Born in Ambulance
Survives Accident

New York, Oct. 23 (AP)—A child was born in a speeding ambulance on Williamsburg Bridge today and minutes later child and mother survived as the ambulance overturned in a crash with another car.

Mrs. Mary Andriago, 30, was being rushed by ambulance to Kings County Hospital when Dr. Arthur Bobroff, delivered her child high

As the ambulance sped down into Brooklyn it collided with an auto and rolled over three times.

The ambulance driver, Agnes Settineri, 37, suffered minor cuts.

Child, mother and policeman were unscathed and rode on to the hospital in a passing auto.

It's not that we don't love our work!

WE DO LOVE our work—but these days, we almost dread leaving home and going to our showroom.

So many people want new Packards, and there are so few coming through!

But you can't build cars without materials!

The factory is straining every effort to get more parts and material so production can be increased.

We're doing our best!

Some cars have been shipped with wooden bumpers, some without window regulator handles. This costs the factory a lot of money, for it means that replacements must be shipped and installed later.

Under such difficulties, it's a wonder the folks at the factory have done as well as they have. This year, compared to the same period of 1941, Packard has built a higher percentage of cars than the industry as a whole.

We don't dare predict!

Our customers have been so patient that we'd like to sound some optimistic note.

But word from Detroit says that parts and materials are still scarce. Steel continues to be limited. Shortages of lead, copper and other materials are looming up.

Scrap iron has been so scarce that Packard started the ball rolling on a nation-wide collection drive!

Take care of your present car!

Until you're sure of getting a new one, give your present car the best of care.

Lots of cars are running better and lasting longer because our trained mechanics have serviced them right. Give us a chance to catch those little troubles before they grow up into big ones.

Bring your car in any time. We're short on new cars, but we're long on helpful, car-saving service.

Lead Supply Dwindles,
But There'll Be Batteries
Washington, Oct. 23 (AP)—The current lead shortage may last another two or three years, Bureau of Mines experts said today, but they forecast optimistically that you'll not have to crank the old jalopy in the near future for lack of a battery. Bureau officials admit that lead reserves in the nation are dwindling and that no new deposits of any size have been discovered in the last 35 years. But they see no reason for great alarm and they think there'll be plenty of lead, possibly through increased mining and decreased industrial use, to take care of necessities before very long.

St. Mary's Church Is Setting for Wolf-DeMico Wedding

At St. Mary's Church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Miss Carmella DeMico daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick DeMico of 334 Broadway, became the bride of Joseph L. Wolf son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Wolf of 340 Broadway. The Rev. John A. Flaherty performed the wedding ceremony.

Theodore Riccobono played the traditional wedding music and accompanied Martin Kelly who sang "Ave Maria" during the ceremony. The church altars were decorated with white chrysanthemums.

Because of the illness of the bride's father she was escorted by her brother, Angelo DeMico. Her white satin gown was fashioned with fitted bodice and trimmed with sweetheart neckline of lace, long pointed sleeves and full skirt terminating in a long train. Her fingertip illusion veil was caught to a pearl and orange blossom coronet. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white roses and shoe button chrysanthemums. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Ann DeMico, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore pink net gown with matching bonnet and carried pink roses. The bridesmaids, the Misses Marie Weider and Janet DeDuca, wore blue net and taffeta gowns with matching bonnets and carried red roses.

John J. Wolf was best man for his brother Thomas, who was accompanied by Michael DeMico, brother of the bride.

A wedding dinner was served to members of the immediate families at the home of the bride's parents. At 4:30 p. m. a reception was held at the Moose Hall for about 400 guests. Out-of-town guests were present from Elizabeth, Orange, Hohenstein, N. J., The Bronx, Monticello, Albany and Johnstown. Mr. and Mrs. Wolf left on a wedding trip to Canada.

For her going-away ensemble, the bride chose a winter white suit with brown top and brown accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. After October 27 they will be at home at 334 Broadway.

Lowell Club Hears Paper
On "Meet Your Ancestors"
Lowell Literary Club met with Mrs. John Saxe in West Hurley Tuesday afternoon. The paper for the day on "Meet Your Ancestors" was given by Mrs. J. W. Groves.

Mrs. Groves spoke of the fossils of animals such as elephants, camels and dinosaurs, found in the western hemisphere especially those found in Florida. She mentioned that bird fossils were hard to reclaim because they are so delicate. Many of these remains can be seen in the Harvard Museum at Cambridge, Mass.

Roy Chapman Anderson's book, "Meet Your Ancestors," was used by Mrs. Groves in preparing her paper. Mr. Anderson has made a study of human fossils which have been found in Asia and Europe and discusses the evolution of man from pre-historic to the present. In the light of these studies he predicts how the physical man will appear many years in the future.

The club will meet November 5 at the home of the Misses Anna D. and L. May Qumby, 135 Wilson avenue.

Stagg Won't Resign

Amos Alonzo Stagg, the popular 84-year-old football coach, is having too much fun to think about quitting his job as football coach of the College of the Pacific, he said today. Stagg branded as false in every detail a report that he was going to retire after this, his 57th season as a football coach. Asked when he planned to retire, he answered: "When a person is healthy and is having as much fun as I am out of coaching, matters like retiring are not considered."

Classis to Hear Dr. Jacob Prins On United Advance

Members of the Reformed Churches of Ulster Classis will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Fair Street Reformed Church in Ulster Classis the United Advance of the Reformed Church in America. Dr. Jacob Prins of Grand Rapids, Mich., and minister of evangelism of the church, will preach the sermon.

The United Advance was adopted by the General Synod of the Reformed Church at its annual meeting last June. The heart of the Advance is a spiritual emphasis, centered around evangelism and stewardship. October, November, and December, 1946, are designated as Stewardship month, with the main attention given to preparing and revitalizing the church and its people for the tasks ahead. The practical expression of the Stewardship will be the raising of an advance fund of $2,500,000.

The advance fund will be used for five "fronts": those of emergency relief, reconstruction in foreign mission fields, advance in home missions, evangelism and extension, and educational institutions. Rather than make separate appeals for these fields, they are combined in the one appeal and one budget.

The central committee of the United Advance in the Reformed Church has approved equal shares for each church, based on membership and ability. Nine geographical areas have been selected as the working units of the fund. This area, which includes the classis of Ulster, Orange, and Poughkeepsie, has been given the share of $110,400. This Mid-Hudson area is under the leadership of the Rev. Raymond J. Pontier, minister of the Reformed Church of the Countertop, Wyncopk Place, Kingston. The spirit of the United Advance is evidenced in the key words of confession, re-dedication, and compassion. All the members of the Reformed Church in this area are urged to be present at the keynote service this Thursday evening.

Attacking Chefoo

Peiping, Oct. 23 (AP)—An unconfirmed report in the Tientsin Catholic newspaper Social Welfare said today government troops were attacking the important port of Chefoo by land and sea. The pro-government paper said warships shelled Chefoo and two government columns were thrusting toward the city, one having penetrated to the suburbs. (The Chinese presumably were using gunboats. Those vessels, several of which were purchased from the United States, comprise the bulk of their warships.) Except for Harbin, Chefoo is the most important city held by the Communists in all of China. It formerly was a treaty port and summer station for the U. S. Asiatic fleet.

Favors Baruch Report

Washington, Oct. 23 (AP)—The world risks coming under control of a dictator if too much unrestricted power is given an international atomic energy commission, Dr. Robert A. Millikan, American cosmic ray authority, said today. In a paper prepared for the closing session of a three-day meeting of the National Academy of Sciences, attended by distinguished scientists from 25 nations, Dr. Millikan said the Baruch report "provides in principle the one and only solution of the atomic bomb problem." "What makes it workable is the limiting of the world authority and control to the single concrete problem at hand," said Dr. Millikan, a Nobel Prize winner for studies related to atomics.

HOME BUREAU

Apples for Vitamins

A year ago homemakers were deploing the shortage of apples, one of the most popular of fruits because of its wide use. This year we have good supplies of apples and now, when they are ripe, they have the best flavor, contain the greatest amount of vitamins.

The amounts of minerals and vitamins present in apples becomes appreciable nutritionally when apples are used in large quantities. Certain varieties seem to be richer in Vitamin C than others. The skin contains more than the flesh; raw apples offer more than cooked apples.

Because both cellulose and pectin are found in large quantities in apples they hold relatively large amounts of water, thereby providing natural stimulus for normal intestinal activity.

The variety each homemaker buys will depend to a great degree on family taste and preference, but those who do not know which varieties lend themselves best to particular purposes may wish to refer to Cornell Extension Bulletin 452, "Eat Apples", available at the Ulster County Home Bureau.

From the standpoint of both taste and nutrition it is highly desirable, according to the Home Bureau, to keep apples handy for eating raw and to use them generously in salads.

The Home Bureau points out that the slow baking of apples tends to bring out the natural sweetness of the apples and reduces the amount of sugar needed for sweetening.

Two recipes for the use of apples follow and many more are available in the above mentioned bulletin.

Apple Delight—6 apples, 3 tablespoons seedless raisins, 3 tablespoons walnut oil, 2 cups sugar, 1 cup boiling water, 1 egg, 4 tablespoons cream or top milk, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Core apples, but leave skin on. Place in a deep sauce pan and crowd the centers with raisins, walnuts and sugar, add the water, cover tightly and cook slowly on top of the stove until apples are tender. While they are cooking, heat the egg, add the cream and sugar and vanilla and beat. Pour this sauce over the apples as soon as they are taken from the heat. The heat of the apples cooks the sauce just enough to make it delicious. Serves 6.

Indian Apple Pudding—2 cups chopped apples, 2 cups bread crumbs, 1 cup raisins, 2/3 cup chopped suet, 1 egg unbeaten, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup corn sirup, 1 cup milk.

Mix the chopped apples with the bread crumbs. Add the rest of the ingredients and beat well. Place the mixture in a buttered mold and boil for two hours. Serve hot with sauce.

Canning Center to Open

The Canning Center at the City Home on Flatbush avenue will be open on Tuesday evenings and possibly another night a week, if public demand warrants, it was announced today by Raphael Klein, director of the center. Mr. Klein said the center would not operate in the daytime. Special groups may arrange for service by calling 1988-W for appointments.
